The scheme for our much needed Observatory is, however, still "under "consideration" at the Colonial Office, or else being delayed in the hands of the scientific advisers to whom, if we are rightly informed, Lord KIMBERLRY referred it five or six months ago, for examination and report. Much valuable time has already been lost. If Major PALMER's very complete project had been promptly dealt with and noted upon, the buildings might by this timehave been far advanced. Instead of this, it has been dragged into the vortex of red tapeism, and become involved in that long and vexatious delay which seems to be a urther. RIGOLETTO" AT THE THEATRE ROYALOn Tuesday night the Italian Opera Company gave an extra performance at the Theatre Royal City Hall, the occasion being the benefit of Signor Ciocoi, the popular baritone. There was a fairly filled house. The opera produced, Verdi's " Riits selection showed much discrimination on the part of Signer Ciocci. The honours of the evenscene, in his character of Court jester; his alter. it by and by. He gave the notes to Sergeant od demeanour at home and the tender affection shown for his daughter; his despair on finding passionate appeals to Ceprano; bis concentrated finding his scheme of vengeance had recoiled on his own head by involving the murder of his own daughter by the assassin paid with traved; and, joined with his magnificent rendering of the stirring music, strongly excited the andience, and on one or two occasions roused them to a pitch of enthusiasm rarely seen in Hongkong theatre. For him the opera was a succession of triumphs. The gay and pleasure Notice.—To avoid delay in the execution of tue to the spread of the telegraphic wire over leving Duke of Mantova was admirably represented by Signor Vanzatti, who both sang and acted with great ability. In the scene with Maddalena he was especially effective, and some of his upper notes were astonishingly clear and sweet. Signora Pinelli filled the part of Gilda with considerable credit, looked at from a histrionic point of view, but she was completely dwarfed by Rigoletto. being quite unable to sing up to Signor Ciocci Signora Silini made a graceful Maddalena, but the part affords no opportunity for the exhibition of vocal powers, and the contralto's aplendid voice was lost in such a rôle. Signora Bertolini filled dock to be constructed by the Hongkong and no less than three small parts, and sustained Whampon Dock Company for the accommodation | them all efficiently. Signor Corti fully realised of the vessels of the British Squadron, have been | the character of the assessin Sparafucile, looking approved by the Admiralty, and the work is to be forceious and remorseless enough to please the most critical. The other minor characters were fairly enstained by Signori Patierno and Bru netti. The first not was rather slow, but the intervals been about half as long as they were the oners would have gone off with much more spirit and effect. The management will do wel not to tax the patience of the audience to such extremelimits as was the case on Tuesday night, when the intervals were most unconsciousbly prolonged. But for the desire of the house to witness the tragic dénoument of the story and to see Signora Silini there would have been a large proportion May next if a sufficient number of subscriptions of empty seats after the third act. We would also again remind the prompter that the audience would fain be oblivious of the presence of that Our readers (says the N. C. Daily News) may | useful personage. The opera was fairly mounted and was. On the whole, a success. Between the second and third acts the bené:

ficiare gave the celebrated romanza "Oh Lisbona tiano." This was given in Signor Ciocci's best style. He was in splendid voice, and sang with neons tribute to his brilliant vocal powers. A further mark of appreciation from his admirers The next performance of the Company will be given on Saturday next, when Donizetti's opera Elesir d'Amore " will be placed on the boards.

SHANGHAI.

It will be remembered that some time ago lin and Hauch, Imperial Commissioners, were despatched from the Capital to Nanking to conduct investigations into a very flagrant case which had there arisen certain innocent mon having been executed for a murder the true perpetrature of which have been since discovered. The reputations of both Shon Pac-ohen and Lin K'unyi are more or less at stake, and much will depend upon the result of the investigations. These have just been concluded, the Commissioners having left Nanking on their return to the Capital five days ago. The Chinese Government allows no one in the Empire to be cruel but itself; an exception, of course, being made in favour of parents who wish to murder their own children. That is only fair. But recently, some policemen, who had strong personal reasons for wishing to extort a confession from a man they knew to be innocent, bound his logs by an iron chain to the supporters of a furnade so that his body hung over the top,-ti htened it by means of a wooden lever which was constantly twisted about to increase the agony, forced the man's head over the mouth of the furnace, and barnt torohpaper under his nestrils. The emprits are sentenced to penal servitude outside the frontier, and a hundred blows upon arrival. This is all very well; but when will the Government learn that example is better than precept?

An interesting description of a Chinese "grunhig " has lately been brought to the notice of the officer, who had been incapacitated for service by bodily infirmities, was permitted to rotice upon full pay. But being of an active turn, he conceived the idea of combarking his capital in a gambling-table, taking two of his friends into partnership to keep the bank and look after the accounts. The rules of the game are said to have been as follows. Four dice marked in the usual manner were covered by a small wooden dicebox, and shaken up three times, the players meanwhile staking their coin on the colour of the pips and the evenness or oddness of their numbers. The winner, it was understood, was to receive three times his stake; and seven per cent. of the winnings were to be paid to the proprietors, who seem to have cleared from two to five taels an evening. A raid was soon made upon the place by the colouel of the district, and in addition to the paraphernalia for gambling a number of suspicious looking weapons were brought to light. The officers declined to believe that these curious arms had been left the ex-Captain by his grandfather, as he said, and the unfortunate man was sentenced to wear the cangue for two menths and then be banished to

The Shen-pao-or its subscribers—must have a keen relish for the marvellous. We notice that according to our contemporary, a strong o imports, is famous for "great billows." The sea, one day, was suddenly much disturbed; and at last one have wave broke upon the shore, disgorging or landing with it a marine mouster of great length and uncertain classification. It is described as being six chang long, or about sixty Shen-pao calls it a Tsau Yii, which apparently refers to some kind of cel; though Dr. Williams describes it as a sea dragon of immense length, whose movements cause the ebb and flow of tides. It is further said that the sudden appearance of this dragon upon dry land-an event of portentous significance according to the Yan Ching-was a great benefit to the country-people. who came with their knives and hatchets and took away as much of the flesh as they could carry, living upon it for some days. At lust, when there was nothing but the skeleton left. foreigner appeared, who purchased the creature's head and carried it off in triumph to Hongkong. It may be noted as a curious fact that we have met with an almost precisely similar incident in a Chinese book published about 300 B.C., though in that instance the monster is said to have been caught by a Gaborman who used several bulls by way of bait. But in both instances the people lived upon the fish for some time afterwards, and the prodigy was reported fur and wido. - Daily News

this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extense. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given, the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications. To illustrate the vast scope of the work, the following facts are submitted for consideration :-halmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English By Appointment to H.E. Sir ARTHUE KEN. is requested that the letters be posted if possible

For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasion-

It comprises upwards of two thousand large A Large REDUCTION in PRICE is made to Purchasers of SIX or more Copies.
